The tree species listed are considered for such factors as: size, disease resistance, pest problems, location suitability, seed or fruit set, and visual appearance. Another factor that can be considered in species selection is which trees are presently doing well and are relatively free from insects and disease. While efforts have been made to make appropriate recommendations, nurseries may have further information as to specific cultivars or varieties, which may be more suitable for your location or climate.

Special Use Trees

In certain areas of the City, such as the downtown business district or in areas of restricted aboveground space, the best tree choice may be those varieties that grow more upright in what is termed a fastigiate, or columnar, manner. This form achieves two purposes: (1) because of their tighter, upright habit, there is minimal storefront blockage; and (2) they will not be wide branching, thus avoiding sidewalk clearance concerns. The following tree species and varieties offer the described characteristics and should be considered for tight space situations:

Scientific Name	Common Name	Cultivar
Acer campestre	hedge maple	'Evelyn'
Acer rubrum	red maple	'Bowhall' 'Karpick'
Amelanchier arborea	downy serviceberry	'Cumulus' 'Robin Hill'
Carpinus betulus	European hornbeam	'Fastigiata'
Ginkgo biloba	ginkgo	'Lakeview' Princeton Sentry®
Malus spp.	flowering crabapple	'Adirondack' 'Centurion' 'Harvest Gold' Madonna™ 'Sentinel'
Prunus sargentii	Sargent cherry	'Columnaris'
Prunus serrulata	Japanese flowering cherry	'Amanogawa'
Pyrus calleryana	callery pear	'Chanticleer'
Quercus robur	English oak	Skyrocket™

This suggested species list was compiled through the use of the excellent references, Dirr's Hardy Trees and Shrubs (Dirr, 2003) and Manual of Woody Landscape Plants (5th Edition) (Dirr, 1998). Cultivar selections are only recommendations and are based on personal experience and tree availability in the nursery trade.
